

Newsletter 12 June 2020 | View this email in your browser

Designing Buildings Wiki

Featured articles and news

Making sustainability a conduit for inclusivity and diversity

Current events may help strengthen the UN's Sustainable Development Goals.

Not just for wine
Known for its water resistance and sustainability, cork is also a resilient flooring option.

Global cabling market
Growth slows, despite increased data centre demand.

Using technology to cut waste
Business process reengineering can change construction management.

Research award
Young constructors are asked for ideas to improve resilience.

The aesthetic movement

A design approach that sought to make everyday items both beautiful and useful.

Around the web

IHBC, 12 June
Old Towns | New Futures. IHBC's 2020 School goes virtual.

Construction Enquirer, June 10
Productivity increases as construction restarts.

Infrastructure Intelligence, June 10
Multi-billion pound investment in Scotland's net zero economy.

The Guardian, June 10
East London site yields the remains of a pre-Shakespearean theatre.

ECA, June 9
Face mask survey launched.

Dezeen, June 9
Super skinny skyscrapers no longer chic.

ArchDaily, June 11
NBBJ designs a car-free neighbourhood for China.

SCN, June 9
Can construction accelerate out of lockdown?

IHBC NewsBlog, June 5
Road accident destroys Audenshaw monument.

7.5 million people use Designing Buildings Wiki to find construction industry knowledge every year. Write an article and they will also find out about you.

Subscribe to this newsletter

