

Exceptional brand positioning with industry-leading content

Sponsor your company's specialist subject on Designing Buildings the construction wiki

Designing Buildings is the world-leading construction industry knowledge base, with more than 20,000 articles about planning, designing, building, operating and decommissioning built assets.

Our authoritative articles are arranged in a series of knowledge hubs, each one focussing on a specific subject area. By sponsoring one of our knowledge hubs, your company details will appear at the top of every page in that subject area.

Want to know more?

You can see the Construction Management knowledge hub here – and you can see where your company details would appear at the top of each page.

Click on any of the other pages in the that subject category and you will see everywhere your company details would appear.

Don't see the subject you're looking for? We can set up a new knowledge hub that suits your brand.

Sponsorship starts at just £3,000 a year.
