

Designing Buildings Wiki

Yes it's true, Designing Buildings Wiki is one year old...

We launched on 29 June 2012 with one simple mission:

To put all industry knowledge in one place and make it available to everyone for free.

There's a long way to go, but in the last twelve months we've exceeded all our expectations. To celebrate, we've created a snazzy infographic so you can see exactly how many people use the site, who they are, where they come from and how many articles have been created. We hope it will inspire you to create an article too.

Keep your eyes open for a bit of a site refresh too. In the next few weeks we'll be updating our design and introducing new user profiles to help you get the most out of Designing Buildings Wiki.
